be prepared...
for new adventure!

a big wide world of fun

Research shows that children who learn how to negotiate social interactions in the early years are more likely to achieve higher outcomes in education, health and well-being.

The health of young people is very important and Cub Scouts is a great way to introduce them to an active lifestyle - while they are having fun and making friends!

Cub Scouts begin taking responsibility for themselves in a safe environment which teaches valuable life skills. Scouting also teaches young boys and girls the value of citizenship and how to give back to their communities.

Each Cub Scout has the opportunity to achieve the Grey Wolf Award before moving onto Scouts.

"I've made heaps of new friends. especially all the kids in my Cub Scout pack. We have a great time together."

explore cub scouts

At Cub Scouts, young boys and girls aged 8-10 can make lots of new friends and explore the great Australian outdoors in a safe and friendly environment.

Cub Scouts will learn new skills while taking part in lots of activities such as camping, hiking and bush-craft.

No one has to miss out - the whole family is encouraged to enjoy and take part in Cub Scouts!

Meetings are once a week for about 90 minutes.

"I've had so much fun being a cub scout and did lots of new activities like canoeing and camping. I can't wait to become a scout next year!"

There is no better way for a child to learn:

- Bush Skills
- Leadership Skills
- Life Skills

your local cub scout meeting

Weekly meetings at your local Scout hall are held to build up skill levels, play games and plan for weekend adventures.

The safety of all Cub Scouts is very important which is why there are always trained leaders on hand during all activities. All leaders are trained to develop programmes to make sure Cub Scouts is fun for everyone!
